

Delock Cable Management box with storage case white / grey

Description

This Cable Management box by Delock is made for stowage and organisation of different cables for phones or tablets. Moreover, it protects children and pets from potential danger due to exposed power sources. The inside of the box offers space to place an extension socket, for connection of different power supplies. The 4 openings on the cover help to lead out the single cables and enable the direct connection to a mobile device. At the same time the edge of the cover acts as stand for the connected device. The cut out on the front side can be used e.g. for leading out bigger cables. The storage case on the cover can be used for stowing additional accessories. With its simple design this box can fit into any room and enables a tidy arrangement and protection of exposed cables.
